Tall Tales

10.30 a.m. - 12 noon, Cultural Pavilion

Marie-Thérèse Schins, writer and painter, will regale children and adults in the Cultural Pavilion. She will read from her story based in India, titled Akhil the cockroach and Neena, the stinky fish. With élan and empathy she will tell the story about a girl and a boy in today's India, who want to break out of the fixed conventions of their families. An acclaimed writer of children's books, Marie-Thérèse Schins has been involved with setting up libraries in 15 schools in Kerala. Just the right person for a spell of "Once upon a time".
